It was a brave, bold conversion that turned a cold, forbidding station house into one of Boston's most luxurious and inviting hotels. With its historic locations and grand backdrops, Boston is a city made for memorable celebrations.

The Stanhope Grille and Cuffs ~ An Irish Bar, both feature private patios for relaxed, outdoor eating in the summer months, and both offer a warm, sophisticated setting for dining or socializing when it's time to stay indoors.

Located in the former police headquarters building in the heart of Boston's historic Back Bay neighborhood, bordering the vibrant South End.

Within short walking distance of many of the city's top destinations and Attractions, and for destinations further a field, guests can access three metro lines steps away from the hotel.
