Your Whiskey Experience at the Westbury

Midleton 1973

€150.00

This is a stunning whiskey, with a huge fruity, honeyed and slightly spicy nose. On the palate it's full-bodied and full-flavoured with lots of complexity and, with a drop of water, develops fascinating caramel toffee notes and hints of tropical coconut.

Introduction:

In 1973, the Master Distiller of the Old Midleton Distillery selected a number of casks to form part of his private collection. In 2003, 30 years after the whiskey was laid down, current Master Distiller Barry Crockett selected whiskeys from this collection and created Midleton 1973. This Single Pot Still whiskey has been matured in American barrels, Oloroso sherry butts and Port pipes resulting in a wonderfully mellow whiskey of great complexity and fullness of taste.

Limited Edition Midleton 20th Anniversary

€250.00

This has a really spicy, nutty aroma and a lovely sweetness and fruity fullness on the palate with toasted oak notes on the finish. Very complex and satisfying.

A unique feature of this whiskey is that it contains some of the same whiskey which was used in the blending of the first ever batch of Midleton Very Rare in 1984 which was distilled at the now silent Old Midleton Distillery. As is the case with all Midleton Very Rare whiskey, only whiskey matured in Bourbon barrels is used and this whiskey is a blend of Pot Still and Grain spirit. Because of this, this product can never be repeated and thus it is a true collector's item.

Jameson Rarest Vintage

€60.00

A mouthful of flavours. Mellow sweetness and toasted wood are complemented by fruit richness characteristic of the port casks. A touch of creamy dairy fudge and dark chocolate add to the complexity

Rarest Vintage Reserve is a blend, like the other Jameson whiskeys, consisting of older grain whiskeys in addition to pure pot still whiskey (containing both malted and unmalted barley), some of which was aged entirely in ruby port casks (with the rest matured in second fill bourbon casks). They told me today that the grain whiskey is 23-24 years old, with the pot still component being slightly younger. The whiskey is bottled at 46% and is not chill-filtered!

Dungourney 1964

€60.00

Oily on the tongue and robust in flavour. This pot still whiskey is both viscous and sweet, but balancing that are some cool notes and a hint of creme brulee.

Named Dungourney, after the river that had fed the Old Midleton Distillery. It was initially rumoured to be a single cask but it would appear the cask is bottomless! However, this doesn't take away from it being an exceptional whiskey and a very rare and cheapish opportunity to try a dram from the Old Midleton distillery.
